Question:

Reference page 8-54. Please provide any available data on the, “many large prospective economic development customers.”

Response:

The Company, through its Economic Development and Customer Choice organizations, has worked with many prospective customers that have expressed interest in renewable energy options upon identifying opportunities to expand or locate new load in the state of Georgia.

During the past two years, Georgia Power has conferred with several high-profile Economic Development customers, with cumulative electric load requirements over 530 megawatts; along with corresponding renewable load requirements over 1,400 megawatts (assumes 100% offset based on a 27% capacity factor).
